

Before your son spends
four years
in yeshiva,
spend one day
to make sure
it's the right one.

Where your son spends his high school years can shape the rest of his life. Not every yeshiva is right for every boy, so you owe it to him – and to yourself – to explore all your options.

Including one option you may not have considered yet: Yeshiva of Virginia.

Take a day to visit us, and you'll see a school whose total enrollment is smaller than a single class at some big-city yeshivas. You'll see teachers who are there for your son, not just for a few extra bucks after putting in a full day at public school. And you'll see a kind of respect, courtesy and all-around mannerliness that goes beyond the yeshiva community to the general Richmond community as well.

So please pick a day and give us a call.

Visiting Yeshiva of Virginia will take just a day of your time. And help you make sure that every day of your boy's yeshiva learning really counts.
